DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-7 and 62-69, drawn to a display device and method of manufacturing of the display device, classified in class 315, subclass 169.1.
  - II. Claims 8-30, drawn to a display device with signal transmission and IC layout, classified in class 345, subclass 204.
  - III. Claims 31-41 and 69-70, drawn to a display device with crossover connections and method of manufacturing, classified in class 315, subclass 169.1.
  - IV. Claims 42-50 and 75-77, drawn to a double layer structure conductor using conducting pads and contact vias and method of manufacturing a display device, classified in class 315, subclass 169.1.
  - V. Claims 51-61 and 71-74, drawn to a display device with a crossover contact area with contact conductors and method of manufacturing a display device, classified in class 315, subclass 169.1.
  - VI. Claims 65, drawn to a method of manufacturing a display device with a plurality of IC devices and carrier conducting pads, classified in class 315, subclass 169.1.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I to IV are directed to related display devices and methods of manufacturing. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed are distinctly different display devices and methods of manufacturing display devices. Each of the display devices and methods of manufacturing possess different structures and intended structure. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
